

Senior Finance Business Partner (m/f/d)

Group Controlling | FP&A | M&A

AXXERON Technologies GmbH · Münster · Full-time · Permanent

The AXXERON Group develops innovative technologies in hydraulics, electronics and automation — high-performance system solutions for international machinery and plant engineering. Around 250 employees, around €50 million in revenue, three business units, and further acquisitions are not ruled out.

We are rebuilding our group's financial management for the age of AI. Routine calculations — models, scenarios, valuations, standard reports — are being automated step by step. What remains is what software cannot do: asking the right questions, understanding variances, driving measures through. Your job is not to maintain spreadsheets, but to prepare decisions.

Your Responsibilities

- Commercial sparring partner to the managing directors of our companies — you discuss business performance, challenge variances and develop measures together
- Group-wide management reporting and monthly current trading
- Budget, forecast and multi-year planning, including maintenance of the central assumption logic
- Critical review of all model results before they become a basis for decisions
- Commercial support for acquisitions and the integration of new companies
- Helping shape our AI-supported finance architecture

Your Profile

- Several years of experience in group controlling, FP&A or as a finance business partner — ideally within a group of companies
- You have a solid command of P&L, balance sheet and cash flow and how they interrelate
- Strong affinity for modern software solutions, particularly AI-supported ones.
- You understand the logic of complex financial models and critically question their results
- Strong affinity for modern finance software and AI-supported tools — you use them actively and do not trust their results blindly
- You think entrepreneurially, are exceptionally reliable and enjoy working in a structure that is still taking shape
- Fluent German (business-fluent), good English

Nice to have, but not essential

- Knowledge of DATEV, LucaNet, Microsoft Business Central and Power BI
- Hands-on experience applying AI models in a finance environment
- Experience with corporate transactions, due diligence processes as well as purchase price and financing matters

What We Offer

- A key position with direct access to top management. You report to the CFO
- Attractive compensation with a performance-based component linked to the group's development
- The chance not to administer a finance function, but to build a new one
- Based in Münster, predominantly on site

We are expressly also looking for candidates from the second row who want to take the next step. What we are not looking for: someone who only produces reports.
